GREENSBORO'S POPULATION IS 15,895

AN INCREASE OF 58 PER CENT. IS SHOWN

Census Figures For Greensboro Given Out Yesterday.

SEVENTH IN STATE.

Charlotte First and Then Wilmington, Raleigh, Asheville, Durham, Winston In Order—Showing a Creditable One Considering Area of City—Including Suburbs Population Is Estimated At 26,000—Greensboro In 1900 and Now.

The census figures for Greensboro were given out yesterday by Director Durand, of the Census Department. Greensboro's population is given at 15,895 as against 10,035 in 1900 and 3,317 in 1890. This gives Greensboro an increase of 58.39 per cent. in population during the past decade. In view of the fact that the city's area is only four square miles, the same as in 1900, the showing is a creditable one. The county's population is a little more than 60,000 and using the number of polls in the county as a divisor it is found that there are 7,41 people to each poll. Then taking the polls in the townships of Gilmer and Morehead, most of which are included in the suburbs adjacent to the city proper it gives the city a population of something more than 26,000, including the suburbs, the mill villages, etc.

The returns show that Greensboro is the seventh city in population in North Carolina. The population of Charlotte and Wilmington had already been given out and the returns from the other cities were made public yesterday. Charlotte leads with a population of something over 34,000, Wilmington being second with a population of over 25,000. The population of the other leading cities follow in order: Raleigh, 19,218; Asheville, 18,762; Durham, 18,241; Winston, 17,167; Greensboro, 15,895; Winston and Salem, generally known as one city, has a population of 22,700, Salem's population being 5,533. High Point has 9,525 inhabitants against 5,163 in 1900. Other cities, whose population was given out yesterday were: Newbern, 9,961; Concord, 8,715; Elizabeth City, 8,412; Rocky Mount, 8,051; Salisbury, 7,153; Fayetteville, 7,045; Kinston, 6,905; Wilson, 6,717; Washington, 6,211; Gastonia, 5,739.

In connection with the census figures the following regarding the growth of the city in the past ten years will be of interest:

In 1900 Greensboro had no sewer, or practically none, no waterworks, no paved or macadam streets, no cement sidewalks. Now Greensboro has forty miles of sewer lines and three septic tanks, this improvement being added by the use of a $200,000 bond issue.

Greensboro has a waterworks plant valued at $300,000, there being 21 miles of pipe line extended to all parts of the city the average pressure at the hydrants being from 60 to 70 pounds. The plant has a capacity of five million gallons of water daily. The water is brought from Reedy Fork, where there is a $133,000 pumping station, by natural flow. At the city pumping station the water is thoroughly filtered and pumped into a large steel tank, the water being purer than any city water in the State. The annual gross income from this plant is about $34,000. There is a balance of about $4,000 annually above the operation of the plant, this sum being used in making further improvements.

In 1900 Greensboro had no macadam streets. Now Greensboro has 25 macadam streets, containing a total of 49,820 linear feet of macadam; 10 gravel streets, containing 11,744 linear feet of gravel; 1 brick street, containing 3,750 linear feet of brick; 2 cobblestone streets, containing 1,780 linear feet of cobblestone. There are about 40 miles of cement sidewalk, extending into every section of the city.

In 1900 the valuation of the municipal property was about $120,000 the annual tax receipts being $56,768.50. The valuation in 1910 was more than $800,000, the tax receipts being about $152,000. The tax rate is $1.30 on the $100 valuation, the same as it was in 1900.

Postoffice Receipts.

The increase in postoffice receipts for the past ten years is no less than 182 per cent. In 1900 the receipts for the year were $31,393.17—first quarter, $7,948.22; second quarter, $7,535.77; third quarter, $7,351.40; fourth quarter, $8,537.78. In 1910 the total receipts were $88,025.68, first quarter, $21,637.69; second quarter, $20,637.69; third quarter, $20,041.72; fourth quarter, $26,208.58.

In this connection it should be said that the postoffice facilities have been greatly improved during the past decade and the territory in the city covered more fully. In 1900 there were five clerks and five city carriers. Now there are 16 clerks, 11 city carriers and 7 rural carriers. Of the city carriers two are mounted. The postoffice has been greatly enlarged and improved, being fitted with modern appliances for the dispatching and cancelling of mail.

Bank Deposits.

The Young Men's Christian Association building (in course of erection) costing $50,000.

New High School building (now being erected), costing $35,000.

The Carnegie Library, costing upwards of $10,000.

St. Leo's Hospital has been erected at a cost of $100,000.

Ten new churches and additions to old ones, costing nearly $150,000.

Elk's Club, costing $50,000.

The Lutheran College. Extensive additions to the State Normal and Industrial, the A. & M. College, G. F. College and Bennett College.

Hippodrome building—the largest building south of New York.

Some New Enterprises.

In 1900 Greensboro had no electric railway and the gas and electric plant were on a very small scale. Now there are 14 miles of street railway track, over which 21 cars are operated. There are 18 miles of gas mains and the electric lines cover a much larger space, there being more gas and electric consumers than in some of the larger populated cities of the State. The North Carolina Public Service Company, which owns the electric and gas plants, owns a five story office building, the entire plant being worth more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The Southern Power Company, which recently located a substation here is at present erecting in the city an auxiliary station, costing more than a quarter of a million dollars. This company has also purchased a site of 12 acres for a terminal station for the big interurban railway in the heart of the city.

White Oak and Revolution mills have been erected and a large addition erected at Proximity, an outlay of several million dollars.

Bell Telephone office and improved telephone system over city, entailing expenditure of nearly a hundred thousand dollars.

New freight depot and yards and concrete platform at passenger station.

LEGISLATURE IS DULY ORGANIZED

A BAD FIRE AT TRINITY COLLEGE

Lawmakers Were Sworn in Yesterday.

The Several Officers Elected—Senator Pharr President Pro Tem of Senate and W. C. Dowd Speaker of House.

The First Bill Introduced by Senator From Lincoln County—Speaker Dowd's Address.

Raleigh, Jan. 4.—The North Carolina General Assembly organized for business today and took recess until tomorrow when the biennial message of Governor Kitchin will be received. The election of officers and swearing in of the members was the only business today. The Senate organization is with H. N. Pharr, Mecklenburg, as president pro tempore; R. O. Self, Jackson, principal clerk; Mark Squires, Caldwell, reading clerk; W. E. Hooks, Wayne, engrossing clerk; R. M. Staley, Wilkes, sergeant at arms.

The House organization was with W. C. Dowd, Charlotte, speaker; T. G. Cobb, Burke, principal clerk; D. Scott Poole, Cumberland, reading clerk; M. D. Kinsland, Haywood, engrossing clerk; G. L. Kilpatrick, Lenoir, sergeant at arms.

Fanned by high wind, the flames which were discovered by students occupying the building, quickly spread to all parts of the building and many narrow escapes were made by the 40 students who arrived here yesterday for the reopening of college today. The most narrow escape was that of Lee Johnson, of Apex, who occupied the room just above the office and who was awakened to find his bed on fire. Many other students were compelled to leave the building in their night clothes. Only a few managed to save their belongings and trunks and suit cases were scattered over the campus, where they had been dragged from the burning building.

The destroyed building was erected by Mr. C. H. Norton 18 years ago at a cost of some $90,000. Together with subsequent improvements the building represented a value of about $100,000, about $30,000 of which is covered by insurance.

It will be recalled that the contract for the tearing down of this building was let some weeks ago. It was to have come down next summer to make room for the replica of the new administration building which is to be built on the site it occupied. At the end of the fall term in December it was announced by the office that with the beginning of the year all classes held the past year in the Washington Duke building would be transferred to the new academic building.

The Senate adopted a resolution of Pharr that the Senate rules of 1909 be used until further orders from the Senate. Committee appointed on rules were: McDonald, Moore, Pharr, Mecklenburg; Thorne, Nash; Reinhart, Lincoln; Starbuck, Forsyth.

The Senate took a recess of twenty minutes and Reinhart introduced a bill concerning working the public roads of Lincoln county.

On motion of Brown, Columbus, the Senate adjourned to 11 tomorrow.

The House.

The House was called to order at noon by Principal Clerk T. G. Cobb, of Burke, Rev. J. A. Moncrief, of Tabernacle Baptist church, being called upon to deliver the invocation.

The House proceeded at once with the long-drawn-out task of swearing in the members and the affixing of their signatures to the State Constitution. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice-Walter Clark. It developed that a number of the members, including Gen. J. S. Carr, ex-Judge Ewart, Representatives Clements, Cornwell, Parham, Richardson and others, had not brought their certificates of election with them. A motion by Representative Wooten was adopted allowing all members who had left these certificates to take the oath of office and select seats without delay with the understanding that they file their certificates as soon as received.

On Thursday and Friday of Next Week the Services Commemorating Great Convention of Last Year Will Be Held—Those Who Will Take Part—Important Meeting At Grace Church Sunday.

The great Laymen's Missionary Convention of last winter will be rivalled in interest and importance by the anniversary meeting of that enthusiastic convention, which will be held here next week, is indicated by the program and list of speakers, which have been provided by the committee on arrangements appointed some time ago. Some of the leading missionary experts and most active promoters of the Laymen's Movement in the South have accepted the invitation of the committee to be present and speak next week.

This anniversary meeting, the sessions of which will be held in the First Presbyterian church, will open on Thursday evening, January 12, just one year from the time the great Laymen's Convocation assembled. It will continue through Friday, with sessions in the morning, afternoon and at night. Each session will be presided over by some prominent laymen of the city.

The speakers who will be heard during the meeting are the following:

Dr. J. O. Reavis, Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the executive committee of foreign missions for the Southern Presbyterian church.

Dr. W. H. Smith, Richmond, Va., educational secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Dr. C. F. Reid, Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who was for many years himself a missionary.

Rev. T. E. White, a returned missionary of the Southern Christian Convention to Porto Rico.

Dr. Banks McNairy, Lenoir, N. C., a prominent layman of the German Reformed church.

Mr. S. R. Harris, Henderson, N. C., a layman of the Methodist Protestant church, who has taken a deep interest in missions.

Rev. J. Kenneth Pohl, pastor of the Home Moravian church of Winston-Salem, and an authority on missions in his denomination.

Rev. J. H. Peele, Guilford College, an advocate of missions and world peace, of the Friends church.

The committee on program and preparations for the anniversary service are: J. Norman Wills, chairman; Chas. A. Hines, secretary; C. H. Ireland, Prof. R. H. Merritt, Rev. Melton Clark.

On Thursday afternoon, January 12, at 4 o'clock denominational rallies will be held at which reports of the progress of the work in churches in regard to every-member canvass, increase in interest and in collections of subscriptions will be heard. At the close of the meeting a missionary policy for the next year will be adopted.

While admission will be free, 1,500 admission cards will be provided and distributed among the several churches, through missionary committees, so as to keep a record of all men who attend. The card will entitle the holder to a reserved seat. Both women and men will be admitted to all sessions.

No charge whatever will be made for cards, but it is important that all wishing to attend obtain cards from the church committee to be presented at the door. At the closing session all cards will be taken up and turned over to the chairman of the missionary committee, according to the church represented.

It is important that pastors and missionary committees fill out report blanks which will be sent them, in order that it may be ascertained just what has been done during the year.

On next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a conference of all pastors, missionary committee, the general committee on Laymen's Movement in city, and interested laymen will be held at Grace M. P. church. It is urged that every one of above named be present at this meeting. At this time the final details for the meeting will be worked out.

A MAN IN A MILLION

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Joseph Skater was in the lightning rod business. He could talk lightning for half an hour with only four intervals for breath.

When Mr. Slater got the job of rodding a building he proceeded to cheat and lie. He would cheat as to the amount of the material used, and he would lie about the protection that might be expected. He started in a poor man, and he got rich by lying and cheating. Never for a moment did his conscience trouble him. He sang as he drove his wagon around the country, and he whistled as he worked away on the roof of house or barn.

On one of his happy jaunts around the country Mr. Skater discovered a widow. He discovered forty of them, for that matter, but this was a particular widow. She wasn't so very old, but she was so homely as to be startling. He had seen tens of thousands of women, but never one to compete with the Widow Allbright. She knew she was homely, and she owned up to it, and that was also something Mr. Skater had never heard of before. She had a daughter eight years old, and the girl was even homelier than the mother.

"How did your husband come to marry you?" asked the lightning man in a voice tinctured with sympathy.

"He was a little bit daft from birth," was the reply.

"You have a very tidy little farm here?"

"Yes. Widowers and old bachelors come and look the farm over, but when they come to see me and Anna they hurry away."

"Mrs. Allbright, I shall take your case under advisement. You are not to blame for your looks. The homely people ought to have a fair deal. I shall try to get you one."

It was curious that such a selfish man as Mr. Skater should think of the interests of any one else, but as he went his way the matter bothered him. He kept thinking and thinking, and it was two weeks before he came that way again and said:

"Widow, you have a creek on your farm. It rises from a spring in a marsh. You know what petroleum is, of course. Petroleum is going to be found in the marsh and creek."

"But I have never seen any there," she replied.

"Because the psychological moment had not arrived. It will arrive in three or four days. Three or four days later than that men will arrive—various sorts of men. Would you care for riches?"

"N-o-o."

"Just so. You want some one to love and call you pet names, eh? Just want to stay right here and take comfort? A wise decision."

"I didn't say wanted to get married again," protested the widow.

"No, no, but none of us can afford to miss a good thing in this world. Love is greater than riches. Mrs. Allbright, you may be offered $5,000 for this farm, which is worth about $2,000."

"Then I'll take it."

"Then don't you do anything of the kind. There will be an offer of marriage. What you want to do is to accept that. You want to be petted. That girl wants a father. A husband and father is worth more than $5,000. No sale, remember. A husband or nothing."

"But how is the petroleum going to get into the spring?" was asked.

"Widow, there are many mysterious things connected with the lightning rod business. This is one of them. The petroleum will appear in good time. So will the men. So shall I. One day nature sends us a thunder-storm, the next day it is a hurricane; the next she causes the earth to quake and pour out petroleum. It is for us poor mortals to take advantage of such things when possible."

The petroleum appeared on the creek. It was sniffed and sighted by a traveler where it crossed the highway. In two days thirty men were sniffing and following the creek to its source. They called at the house. All the widow could say was that the petroleum had suddenly appeared. Those thirty men looked at the widow and her child and turned away. Then they turned back to make offers to lease the farm, to buy it outright, to drill for oil on royalty. No enthusiasm on the part of the widow. She didn't care for money.

The "find" was announced in the papers, and the thirty men became fifty. There were gushers gushing 1,000 barrels of oil per day not fifty miles away. The widow was offered as high as $10,000 cash for the farm, but she shook her head. Men were going and coming when Mr. Skater drove up with one seated beside him. They went up to the spring, heard the talk and then entered the house. The man started back at sight of the widow, but recovered a moment later. An offer of $15,000 had just been made for the farm. Mr. Skater left the couple alone for an hour. Then he was asked to gallop his horses for a preacher, and there were a marriage ceremony and a scattering of disappointed speculators.

No, the petroleum didn't last over two weeks, but then the widow was as good as she was homely, and you can't get a divorce in any state in the Union just because you got married in a hurry to become the owner of a petroleum ranch.

Editor W. C. Dowd, of the Charlotte News, has been made Speaker of the House of Representatives. He will fill the position creditably.

Considering the area within the city limits, Greensboro has no reason to be dissatisfied with its population. There are thousands of people who live here but are not inside the corporate limits.

Senator Lodge, in his effort to get re-elected to the Senate, is ransacking his career to find where he has said or done something favorable to tariff reform. But it is a fruitless sort of a search. It is folly for Lodge to try to palm himself off as an insurgent. The public knows better.

Another hot shot for Col. Roosevelt. The United States Supreme Court has decided contrary to his ipse dixit in the Panama Canal libel suit against the New York World. The Supreme Court holds, as the New York World has maintained from the beginning of the proceedings, that the suit, if it should have been brought at all, should have been brought in the New York State courts.

William E. Corey, president of the Steel Trust, has resigned. It is said that it will not be necessary to elect anybody in his place, thus suggesting the inference—which is a very safe one—that he has been enjoying a sinecure at a fabulous salary. The heads of the big industries have to have such huge salaries and other emoluments that it is no wonder their products are sold at extravagant prices.

The London police do not carry revolvers. There are those who hold that no policemen should carry revolvers. London being held up as an example. Were policemen to go unarmed, the argument is, there would not be so many fleeing prisoners slain or wounded. There is something in the argument, but also something on the other side, as the London police found out recently when they had a fierce battle with seven Anarchists. They first went to the attack unarmed, but recognizing the desperation of the men they were dealing with they armed themselves. Even then several policemen were wounded and one killed before the Anarchists, who resisted to the end, were exterminated. About ten days before three policemen had been shot to death by Anarchists. The outcome of the stirring incidents of the last few weeks will, it is possible, result in a reversal of the established London policy of requiring policemen to go unarmed.

Greensboro-made furniture manufacturing machines are found all over the world. Greensboro-made laundry machinery is found in many of the cities of the United States. Greensboro-made beds are found far and near. Greensboro-made textiles are scattered over the earth. There is a market for more Greensboro-made overalls than the local factory can employ women to make. Greensboro-made cigars are sold in San Francisco and Seattle. Greensboro-made saw-mill outfitts are shipped to many parts of the country. Greensboro-made and repaired flour milling machinery is used in many places. We have stove factories, can factories, wood factories, table factories, brick factories and what not. But it's a fact that Greensboro needs more factories. We urge that men with capital consider the opportunities that lie before the successful manufacturer.

The long-expected census figures for Greensboro have at last been made public. The population of 15,895, while something of a disappointment, is by no means small as cities go in North Carolina. The percentage of gain in the decade was a fraction over 58 per cent., which is greater than the average gain. Of course the announcement of the figures will cause a recurrence of the forty-two-thousand gossip, touching which we are minded to say that the parties who originated the claim that Greensboro had a population of 42,000 did the town a great injury. They did it with the best of motives, but their judgment was sadly at fault and they evidently had forgotten what a forty-thousand city looks like. Hereafter Greensboro will be more conservative. Indeed it is already, and has been for some time, more conservative. It is now enjoying a safe, sure growth and it is going to keep up the lick. "Hard licks and steady blows" will be its program henceforth.

Thoughtful Maud.

Maud—Yes, I got papa to buy a vacuum cleaner for mother.

Jessica—How thoughtful.

Maud—Yes. Mother is a little stiffened up with rheumatism, you know, and I used to feel sorry to see her trying to use the broom that I always left home on sweeping day.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Lottery Romance.

A few years ago, as the date for the drawing of the annual Christmas lottery at Madrid was approaching, a poor mechanic of Corunna was awakened three consecutive nights by the number 125,869, apparently spoken in his ear. So impressed was he by the repetition of the incident that he wrote down the number and jocularly said to his wife, "That number will win the first prize in the great lottery." "Then why don't you buy the ticket?" his wife answered jokingly as she looked at the figures. "Why, see, if you add them together they just come to my age. I shall be thirty-one on Christmas day." The ticket, after much trouble, was found (it had been rejected a few minutes earlier by a wealthy citizen of Corunna) and bought, and before many days had passed the mechanic and his wife were made jubilant by the news that the ticket had won the first prize of £200,000.—London Globe.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful. During Month of December Aggregate Value of Guilford Property Sold V. More Than Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

The aggregate value of property that changed hands in the county during the month of December was $220,630, according to the records in the office of the register of deeds. This was the biggest month's business in several years and it kept the clerks on the run to get the papers recorded, there being a large number of other kinds of papers that had to be recorded. The largest deal was for $30,000 and the second largest was for $25,000.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES HERE.

Public Service Properties of Coler & Company Will Be Managed From Greensboro.

Arrangements have been perfected by which the public service properties of W. N. Coler & Company, owners of the North Carolina Public Service Company, will be managed from a central or head office which will be located in Greensboro. Offices are being opened on the second floor of the Public Service Company's building and Mr. R. J. Hole, who has been connected with the High Point property, will become business manager. Mr. G. L. Fritz, auditor, will move his family here from Michigan soon and take up his duties. Mr. E. C. Deal, manager of the local plant, will be superintendent of the engineering department.

Coler & Company own public service properties in Washington State, Illinois, Kentucky, New York, Michigan and several other states. Formerly these properties have been superintended from offices located in New York and Michigan. The office is centralized and brought to Greensboro in order that the entire system of plants operated by this firm might be under the management of Mr. Deal, who has proved his fitness for the work by his work in putting the local plant in its present high state of efficiency.

Jno. R. Coble, Donor.

Mr. John R. Coble sends a check for $25.00 to Chief Taylor of the Fire Department to be used at the pleasure of the boys who fought the flames in the big building on Elm street. He says they did him valiant service and wants to show his appreciation.

The Secret of Song-Writing

A noted composer has said that a song, to make a hit, should "appeal to the heart." That's exactly what is giving great popularity to "The Land of the Beautiful Dream," words and music of which will be given free with next Sunday's New York World.

This is the song now being sung by Truly Shattuck in "Alma, Where Do You Live," the play drawing crowds to Weber's Theatre, New York City. It's a song that "appeals to the heart."

Order next Sunday's New York World in advance and get a great newspaper and a great song at one and the same time.

from their county authorities.

After a roll call that showed 118 representatives present the election of officers was taken up and the nomination of candidates for speaker was the order. George W. Connor, of Wilson, was recognized to be nominated W. C. Dowd, of Mecklenburg, the choice of the Democratic caucus. He declared the indications to be that this would be a history-making legislature and that the eyes of the people of the entire state were turned to this session expectantly. The presiding officer should be one of ability to stand "storms" and treat all fairly. Such a man he declared Dowd to be.

For the seventeen Republicans Representative Crumpler, of Sampson, spoke, placing in nomination for speaker ex-Judge H. G. Ewart, of Henderson county. They knew, he said, that they could not elect a speaker but they were happy in the conviction that they had the material there from which one could be selected.

The nomination of Dowd was seconded by Representatives Dowd, of Harnett; Spainhour, of Burke; Wooten, of Cleveland. The nomination of Judge Ewart was Caviness, of Wilkes. The vote, which was not reached until 2 o'clock, showed 101 for Dowd, and 15 for Ewart.

Representatives Turlington, Ewart and Koomee were sent to bring Mr. Dowd from the speaker's room. Chief Justice Clark administered the oath of office in due form and then the new speaker took the chair.

Mr. Dowd said he was much in the position the late Governor Fowle found himself on one occasion. After being a candidate for Governor unsuccessfully twice he found himself being induced into office after his third attempt, with the speeches of acceptance he had prepared with great care on the first two occasions obsolete and forgotten and no new speech on tap. So far as was possible, he said, he would know no difference between Republicans and Democrats and he wanted party differences to be forgotten and the good of the State to be the dominant aim of all. He appealed for co-operation in economic direction of the affairs of the Assembly and the State. He would not be niggardly, but use economy. He hoped the Legislature would do nothing to disturb business conditions in the State—do nothing radical or ultra-conservative. He expressed, amid applause, the hope that the State's higher institutions would receive the most generous treatment at the hands of the Legislature. He hoped the health of the State would be conserved and bespoke especially liberal aid for the eradication of the hookworm disease.

Treating industrial development he expressed the hope to see the day when great belt lines will connect the principal cities of the state. The agricultural progress of the State came in for tribute. The manufacturing interests he said, should be fostered and developed along with the other industries. He appealed that nothing be done to retard the business interests.

WOMAN ROBBED BY NEGRO MAN

One of the Boldest Thefts Known In This Section—Deed Perpetrated on Leading Thoroughfare Yesterday—Small Sum Obtained.

Yesterday afternoon about one o'clock, a negro man knocked down a woman on Sunnit avenue road, between Dr. Kerndole's home and the bridge, and after dragging her to the roadside, snatched her purse and disappeared in the wood.

The brute did not attempt to harm the woman after he had got possession of her purse; but no one could say that he would not have done so, but for the screams of the woman, which were heard as far as White Oak village. Men rushed to the scene, and started at once in search of the negro; but the trees and shrubbery were thick, and on that account, his escape and concealment were made easy.

Officer Crutchfield spent most of the afternoon in an endeavor to get on his trail, but reported last night that he had been unable thus far to make any satisfactory headway. Phone messages were sent out in all directions with description of the negro, who wore a brown leather cap and a blue suit.

The purse was found in a wood near by, but he had rifled it of its contents, which fortunately amounted to only a small sum of money—$1.55.

The lady was Mrs. Johnson, whose initials could not be learned, and lives at White Oak. She sustained no physical injuries of serious consequence.

The scoundrel is known to have gone eastward, but that is all the information, so far, that could be gathered of his whereabouts. Sheriff Jones and Deputy Crutchfield are still diligently at work on the case, and it is hoped that they may be successful in bringing him to justice.

Dropping Coaches on the Run.

The ingenious means by which one of the great railroad systems of England drops passenger coaches off at intermediate stations without slowing up the locomotive, even for a fraction of a second, in its speed of sixty or more miles an hour is called the "slip coach" system and is described in Popular Mechanics. It is a system never tried in America and consists in dropping, or "slipping," one or more of the rear coaches just before the station is reached. Undoubtedly many American tourists in England after alighting at their destination have been amazed to discover that the coach which they occupied was still beside them, while the locomotive and the remainder of the train were nowhere to be seen.

Athletics Versus Learning

Story of a Twirler and Tackler

By HUDSON C. EASTON

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association

"Johnny," said Peter Weatherbee to his son when his boy left him in the mountains of Colorado to go east to college, "I want you to study your learnin' hard and don't give too much of your time to those games the boys play at college. Out here when an edicated young man on't gets a start he can top those who haven't the education. Now study hard and let the other things go."

When Johnny returned four years later his father was very much disappointed in his record. He had taken no honors, stood near the foot of his class, but was the athletic hero of the season. As a twirler he could send a ball that few could hit; as a tackler no man could get past him. Johnny's father was owner and editor of the Rocky Mountain Globe. But the paper during Johnny's sojourn at college had been running down. A rough element had come into the town, which had started with fine prospects, and so disturbed the condition of things that the better people were leaving while no new respectable settlers were coming in.

"Father," said Johnny, "it seems to me that it's the duty of an editor to make it hot for evil wherever his paper is located."

"Get shot for doing it."

"Better be shot than let the other fellow take the bread and butter away from you. If the town dies our paper dies."

Peter Weatherbee consented that his son should write articles against the evil disposed, thus awakening the better class of citizens against them. Johnny began by inveighing against the indiscriminate carrying of weapons. Then he attacked certain men who ran gambling houses, with others who made offices of the said resorts.

"Johnny," said his father, "seems to me you've weakened yourself. You can't carry a revolver since you've come down on the practice, and these men you've been larrupin' 'll shoot you down like a dog."

"They won't go for me, father. I'm only an understrapper. They'll go for you, at least till they find out that I'm the man that's after them."

The next morning Johnny put his desk in a room through which all must go to his father's office. He had hardly got settled when one of the parties attacked in that day's issue of the paper came up the stairs.

"Where's old Weatherbee?" he asked. "I'm goin' to kill the—" "In there," interrupted Johnny.

The man was opening the door when Johnny tackled him from behind, pulled him to the landing and threw him down to the first floor, two flights below. He was not killed outright, but died in a hospital the next day.

"So much for my football training, father," said Johnny. "By and by I'll try some other athletic features I learned at college."

Johnny sat down to write some more articles attacking other rascals. Over his desk was a rosewood baseball laid with gold which Johnny had won in college as a trophy. When he was rallied on his defenselessness he said he could use that far better than a revolver. During the morning he heard a quick footstep at the other end of the hall. There's lots in a step. Johnny knew at once what this one meant. Seizing his wooden ball, he went to the door. Some fifty feet away a man he recognized as a pal of the one he had thrown downstairs was coming with blood in his eyes as well as his step. Johnny twirled his trophy ball, landing it in the right eye of the corner and relieving it of all the blood there was in it.

The man didn't come any farther. Indeed, he was taken to his home, where a doctor pronounced his case a fracture of the frontal bone. He died in a few days.

These two novel encounters encouraged the good citizens and somewhat shamed the bad ones. An athletic gambler vowed he would take Johnny on his own ground. Meeting Johnny on the street, he suddenly tackled him with his right arm and began to rain blows on his face with his left fist. But Johnny had been thus held often before. He wriggled out like an eel and landed a blow on his opponent's mug that capsized him. The man started to run. Johnny followed him, every now and then getting in a kick. At last, after having several times served as Johnny's football, the man gave out and could go no farther.

Those who saw the last kick the gambler received differed as to the distance Johnny sent him. Some said it was ten feet, some fifteen, and one man, who claimed to have measured the distance with tape line, declared that it was just nineteen feet and four inches.

The man suffered from a broken coccyx, which is the end of the backbone. This being the third man that Johnny had put "out of the fight," a number of citizens called on him and told him that they would see him through what else might be in store for him. Johnny said to them:

"While at college I prepared myself for my beginning here. But I reckon that, having got rid of the three worst men in the town, the others will be cowed."

And so it proved. Johnny, having paved the way for his usefulness, rose rapidly in the esteem of his fellow citizens and is now one of the prominent men of the state.—New York American.

A SKILLFUL SHOT.*The Way to Bring Down an Overhead Incoming Bird.

One of the cardinal rules of the old time shooting school cautioned the gunner against ever trying to stop an overhead incoming bird, but to wait until it had passed by and to the rear and then take chances on what is undoubtedly the harder shot of the two.

It is surprisingly how difficult it is for some sportsmen to successfully score on their incoming birds. Many who can seemingly cope with game in any other mode of flight will habitually balk at this shot and acknowledge their inability to make it.

Yet once its principle is understood and the lesson learned the dropping of an overhead incomer is as easy as anything can well be. The miss is always made by the sportsman shooting under and behind the bird, and there is but one way in which the error is to be avoided.

To make the shot the gunner should wait until the bird is about to pass over him, then, bringing up his gun, follow in from behind, cover the bird and swing in ahead of it and, maintaining the same rate of speed, press the trigger the instant the bird is hidden behind the barrels. Do not stop the swing of the gun and be sure the bird shall have disappeared from sight. If the shooter will observe this rule he will be surprised how easily and invariably he will kill his bird.—Recreation.

WISHBONES.On Their Shape Depends the Force of Birds' Wing Strokes.

Scientists call the "wishbone" the furcula, and it is the union of what are in man two collar bones. These receive the brunt of the strokes of the wing that turn the creature in its flight.

Few of us appreciate the strength of the stroke of the bird's wing. A swan has been known to break a man's leg by a blow of its wing, and in like manner the wing beatings of the larger birds are dangerous if they strike the human head or face. If, therefore, a large bird is in the habit of making sudden turns to right or left in its flight it must be fitted with a "wishbone" capable of withstanding the great strain of the wing stroke on the one side when unaccompanied by action on the other.

For this reason we find in the eagle and birds of its class that turn quickly a furcula that is a perfect Roman arch, widely at variance with the Gothic arch, which is the shape of the "wishbone" of our common fowls. The eagle's furcula is everywhere equally strong and lacks those points of weakness that make our sport of breaking the "wishbone" possible.—Harper's Weekly.

You can drive the stocks to water, but you can't make them shrink.

WIRELESS POSSIBILITIES.Plan to Bind British Possessions by Invisible Currents.

New York Tribune.

In a report from Singapore, Consul-General DuBois says that he heard would cost only about $5,000,000 to connect the British possessions all over the world by a wireless telegraphy system. The annual cost of operation would be about $1,000,000, but that does not seem much when the advantage of uninterrupted communication from Montreal to Cape Town is considered. Stations would be required at Montreal, Glace Bay and Vancouver, Canada; Hong-Kong, Singapore, Perth, Adelaide and Sydney, Australia; Wellington, New Zealand; Gibraltar, Malta, Alexandria, Egypt; Aden, Bombay, Colombo, Mombasa, Durban, Cape Town, Bathurst, Sierra Leone and St. Helena, Africa.

Solves a Deep Mystery.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Our Loss.

"This muck-raking has made the big corporations dead sore and hurt the country."

"That's right. Hardly anybody is giving blotters this year."—Washington Herald.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE is a valuable friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.
